Man, Wife Feared Death As Hostages

Held 9 Hours By Ex-Convict; Killed Himself In Oregon

SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (AP) — A Springfield man said he was beginning to expect that he and his wife would be shot to death until police fired tear gas into their house, allowing their escape from an ex-convict who held them prisoner for nine terrifying hours.

A few moments after the tear gas exploded Thursday afternoon, the ex-convict, Harry Acree, 33, shot himself to death with a pistol.

"If they would have waited another hour to fire that tear gas, I think we would have all been dead," said Charles Fawbush, 46, the hostage.

Fawbush, still nervous from the day's ordeal, spoke from a room next to his wife's hospital room. "My wife had a heart operation a few years ago and she's not supposed to get excited," said Fawbush.

"There were a few times when I didn't think she was going to make it."

Mrs. Fawbush was under treatment for shock. Fawbush said that just before the end Acree "began to get meaner and meaner. At the last he said these words: 'I shot that dumb cop and I haven't got a thing to lose. I've got two bullets in this gun and I can make both of them count.'"

Winter Sticks Around In Defiance Of Spring

The forecast calls for slightly warmer weather Saturday, with the possibility of light snow.

Cashiers Menaced At Dairyland

Gun Threat Used By Man Who Flees With $92 Here

A search spread throughout the area today for a middle-aged bandit who fled with $92 from Golden Star Dairyland about 10:30 p.m. Thursday after menacing two women cashiers with a black box which he said contained a gun.

The stickup man obtained the money from Mrs. Leota Davies of Huston Rd. and Mrs. Dorothy Ingram of 332 W. 5th St., forced them outside and then fled west on W. 5th St. in a light green auto, officers said.

THE WOMEN said the bandit was about 55, wearing a brown hat, suit coat and shoes and blue trousers. The man, about 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighing 140, wore glasses and appeared tanned from the sun, the women told police.

Police searched the area within minutes after the holdup and broadcast a description of the bandit and his auto throughout the area, but the man made his escape.

Police said he fled with $92 which Mrs. Davies was holding in her hand as she finished relieving Mrs. Ingram at the cash register at the store's delicatessen and bakery counter. The clerks said there was "much more money" in the drawer of the register but they did not hand it over "because he didn't ask for it."

The stickup was witnessed by Mrs. Vicki Haggerty of 824 Oak St., a cashier on duty at another register a short distance away.

Miss Janet Thompson of 1500 Nevada Ave., Wellsville, reported seeing the bandit get into his auto on W. 5th St.

Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Ingram told police the man loitered around the self-serve delicatessen counters for some time, apparently waiting for other customers to leave the store.

Then he walked up to the cashier's counter and laid down three packages of meat and two packages of cheese.

HE HANDED Mrs. Davies a note and told her to read it. "Give me all your money or you are finished," the note read.

Mrs. Davies told the man she did not understand the note. "You can read," he replied. "There is a gun in this box."

The man was holding an old leather box about the size of a cigar box. It was wrapped with black tape. There was a hole in the box and the man held his finger in the opening as though it was on the trigger of a gun, the clerks said.

Mrs. Davies turned over the money she was holding in her hand. The bandit picked up the money, the cheese, the meat and the note, and then told the women: "You are going for a walk with me."

He ordered them outside and told them to walk toward the Diamond. Meanwhile, the bandit headed in the opposite direction — around the corner onto W. 5th St.

Seeing that the man was not following, Mrs. Davies ran to the nearby New York Restaurant and asked a patron to telephone the police department.

Patrolmen and Karl Samples and W. F. Copestick were the first officers on the scene.

They were followed a moment later by Patrolman Kenneth J. Montgomery and Howard E. Frontz. Copestick, Montgomery and Frontz obtained a description of the bandit and his car and set off in pursuit.

The man was holding an old

Position Reopened

Kuzma Selection Voided By Board

The Midland Board of Education today voided its action on the election of Henry J. Kuzma as school principal and reopened the position for applications "from qualified members in the school district."

The decision was announced by Maurice J. Newman, president of the board, who earlier received a letter from Solicitor Frank A. Suffoletta advising the action. Kuzma was selected by a 4-3 vote at the March 21 meeting.

The school code states that the affirmative vote of a majority of all of the board members is required for such action. Suffoletta pointed out. Being a nine-member board, five affirmative votes are necessary.

Applications will be accepted until next Wednesday, Newman said.

Kuzma, basketball coach who led the high school team to the state championship in 1965, was named to replace William Walters, who earlier announced his retirement at the end of the current school term.

Woman Held Innocent In Boy Slaying

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Mariann K. Colby was found innocent by reason of insanity today in the killing of an 8-year-old neighbor boy and was ordered sent to Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane.

Mrs. Colby registered no emotion as the verdict was read.

Moments before the judges came in to deliver their verdict the courtroom was cleared, and all spectators were searched as they returned to the room.

Reportedly there had been a telephoned threat of an incident if Mrs. Colby were not found guilty.

On hand in the courtroom when the verdict was read was Mrs. Colby's husband, Robert. Mrs. and Mrs. John Cremer Young Sr., parents of the slain child, also were in the room.

The three-judge panel said the verdict, reached after more than five hours of deliberation Thursday night and today, was unanimous.

Beaver's Tax Continued At 11-Mill Level

Budget Adoption For County Slated Tuesday Morning

BEAVER FALLS — County Commissioners James E. Ross, Eli G. Corak and Arthur W. Pettibon officially set the tax millage Thursday, with the budget to be adopted next Tuesday morning, it was announced today.

As indicated previously, Beaver County the figure will remain at 11 mills, the rate in effect since 1963, when it was reduced from 12½ mills.

The millage is based on an assessed valuation of $285 million, which is an increase of approximately $5 million over 1965. James F. Tress, controller, said. The 1966 budget will be about $6 million, an increase of approximately $285,000 over last year's $5,715,000.

In other business, the commissioners voted to increase the daily charge of patients at the Beaver County Home and Hospital, with the home rate to be increased from $5 to $6 per day and the hospital rate from $8 to $11 per day.

Actual operating costs in 1965 were listed at $5.92 per day for the home and $10.63 per day for the hospital. The total per capita cost of operating daily is $6.85 for the home and $11.97 for the hospital, the figures based on the operating cost and the bonded indebtedness which requires an annual payment of $115,000 on the principle and $54,050 on the interest, it was explained.

The commissioners said the increase is necessary because of soaring expenses, including such items as food, salaries, drugs and maintenance.

The commissioners said they felt it was fair and equitable to increase the charge to the patients rather than to burden the taxpayers with a millage increase, since county taxpayers already are subsidizing the hospital in the amount of approximately $450,941 per year.

Entire Cong Regiment's Wiped Out

Allied Losses Are Reported As Light; In Operation Texas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Five thousand U. S. Marine and South Vietnamese troops brought the fighting phase of Operation Texas to an end Thursday night and claimed 1,236 Communists killed or wounded in five days of battle in the central coastal plains.

Senior American and Vietnamese officers said the campaign in Quang Ngai Province, 330 miles north of Saigon, smashed an entire Viet Cong regiment, battered several more battalions and cleaned out five villages in an area long dominated by the Communists.

Allied losses were described as light, although some small assault units took heavy punishment during helicopter landings.

As the Leathernecks used 6,000 pounds of dynamite to blow up abandoned Communist fortifications today, other Marines began a new "Operation Kings" to protect the rice harvest farther north near Da Nang.

Two Viet Cong companies opened up on the Marines with mortar shells, inflicting some casualties, but officers said the Americans killed six Viet Cong and captured two weapons.

Otherwise ground action was mostly static. But U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers flew 42 strike missions against North Viet Nam Thursday, concentrating again on communications facilities to hamper the flow of men and supplies to the Viet Cong.

An Air Force spokesman announced the loss of two American aircraft Thursday.

An Air Force F105 crashed in North Viet Nam 15 miles northwest of Dong Hoi while on an armed reconnaissance mission. The spokesman said no parachute was observed, and the pilot was listed as missing. Heavy anti-aircraft and automatic weapon fire was reported in the area at the time.

A big Army Chinook CH47 helicopter carrying a 105-howitzer and ammunition was shot down by ground fire 10 miles northwest of An Khe while supporting a ground operation by 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division troops. The spokesman said there were light casualties. The Chinook normally carries a crew of four.

On the political front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky faced a threat of antigovernment violence from a student leader in the northern university city of Hue.

Nguyen Huu Giao, president of the student wing of a Buddhist political action group called "People's Struggle for the Revolution," gave Ky until Sunday to answer Buddhist demands for a popularly elected civilian government.

Auto Injures East End Man

A 25-year-old East End man escaped with minor injuries when bumped by a backing car as he walked across the street near his home Thursday night, police reported.

John Silva of 1701 Pennsylvania Ave. suffered contusions and abrasions of the left side in the mishap at 9:41 on Pennsylvania Ave. at Oakland Ave., officers said.

Silva told police he was crossing the street just as an unidentified motorist began to pull from a parking place. Silva said he walked behind the auto, which backed suddenly and struck him. The driver asked if Silva was hurt and he replied he was not, he told police. The unidentified motorist then drove away, he related. Silva was treated at City Hospital.

Two cars were damaged in a collision Thursday at 2:50 p.m. on E. 5th St. at Washington St., officers said.

The mishap involved a 1961 four-door sedan driven by Rocco J. D'Alonzo, 32, of 731 Price St. and a 1962 four-door sedan operated by Edith Marie Taylor, 27, of Chester R. D. 1.

D'Alonzo told police he was driving west in the left lane on E. 5th St. when the woman pulled from a parking space on the opposite side of the street, crossed the right lane and struck his car.

There was damage to the right rear of D'Alonzo's car and the left front of the woman's auto, police reported.

'Flying Object' Reported Near Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—An unidentified flying object shaped "like a top" or a "Christmas tree upside down" was reported in this area early today, sheriff's deputies say.

The description was given to authorities by Everett Will, a farmer who lives three miles north of this Wyandotte County city.

The object also had lights on its outer edges, deputies were told.

Will reported that it hovered about 25 feet above a woods near his farm.

Deputies rushed to scene but found nothing. They left, were called back an hour later but the object had disappeared. Will said he spotted it a third time but by the time deputies came back it disappeared again.

There have been numerous reports during the past week of unidentified flying objects in the Michigan area.

The Ohio party was to leave here this morning for New York and a conference with G. Keith Funston, the exchange president.

Also in the Ohio group was Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, who sent Funston a letter Thursday saying the exchange could save more than $150 million an-

Tax

Finley and Mr. Graham have ruled in a matter that, in their opinions, is correct.

"However, with all due respect to the two gentlemen, I feel the reduction in this assessment is unfair to the remaining taxpayers of Hancock County."

"I have consulted with the prosecuting attorney's office on the question of this appeal and have been advised by Prosecutor Floyd Tarr and Mr. Don Donnell as to the legal aspects of this matter."

"I am not unmindful of my duties as assessor of Hancock County. I am sure and I know the county commissioners share the view, that all property owners of the county must receive fair and equal treatment on their assessments. All other taxpayers have been assessed and obtained their share and Waterford Park should do the same."

"Therefore, I feel our circuit court should rule on this matter."

Chester Car Damaged In West End Collision

A Chester woman's auto was damaged in a mishap with a one-ton truck today at 8:46 a. m. on W. 8th St. about 100 feet east of Lisbon St., police reported.

The woman said she was driving west in the left lane of the four-lane stretch in West End when the truck, traveling in the adjoining lane, scraped the right side of her auto. The trucker corroborated the report, police said.

Full Electric Service Restored For Chester

Full electrical service was restored about noon Thursday following the collapse of a pole in Church Alley at the rear of the Hancock County Federal Savings and Loan Association, Walter Jordan, manager of the Monongahela Power Co. office in Chester, reported this morning.

The utility official said the weight of snow on the lines leading to the bank building apparently caused the pole to snap.

There were no other service interruptions resulting from the sudden snowfall, Jordan added.

In other action, the commissioners accepted a low bid from the Wooley Chevrolet Co. of Leetonia on a 1966 Chevrolet half-ton stepside truck for the dog warden's department. The figure submitted by the Leetonia firm was $800 on a base price of $2,350 and included a discount of $590.22 and a trade-in allowance of $959.78 on a similar 1963 model.

The other bids submitted were: Parker Chevrolet of Salem, $850; Brittain Motors of East Palestine, $894; Columbiana Motors, $895; Lewis Chevrolet of Lisbon, $1,000; Mike Turk, Inc., of East Liverpool, $1,035,

The Art And Joy Of Walking

The Buckeye Trail Association has designated Stark County's section of the Ohio and Erie Canal as part of the Buckeye Trail.

Which brings to mind again the picturesque and inviting scenery which abounds in Columbiana County.

With today's weather, mention of walking may seem a little asinine, but it won't be long until spring is here for certain, with summer following, and things will be different.

Whether given the sanction of the Buckeye Trail Association or not, there are innumerable places in the county which beckon residents.

The pleasure of the art of walking is enhanced every time its charms are brought to public attention.

Members of the Buckeye Trail Association are experts. They know the secret of pleasurable walking.

The pleasure has little to do with the exercise of walking. It has to do mostly with the senses of sight, sound and smell.

A real walker has no compulsion to get somewhere. He would rather stroll than stride. His only compulsion is to enjoy himself in the outdoors.

He has learned the secret of walking for pleasure. Charles Dickens wrote about it once. "The sum of the whole," he said, "is to walk and be happy; walk and be healthy. The best way to lengthen out our days is to walk steadily and with a purpose."

Then the author added an afterthought with special meaning for people who keep walking as the years accumulate.

"The wandering man knows of certain ancient, far gone in years, who have staved off infirmities and dissolution by earnest walking—hale fellows, close upon ninety, but brisk as boys."

So when the weather turns nice, select a favorite spot and enjoy a refreshing walk amid the natural beauty of Columbiana County.

Successful-Plus!

With the concluding discussion set for next week, the community meetings sponsored by five local churches have proven extremely successful.

The messages have been pertinent and the audiences large, attentive and receptive.

Considerable food for thought has been offered by those who have spoken with authority on subjects close to their hearts, subjects with meaning to many in the area.

Whether enough of those who could benefit the most have gotten the messages, only they themselves know. But, regardless, a definite good is certain to come from the discussions.

The "JUMP" series has proved a welcome sounding board for vital issues. Those who conceived and followed through on the idea deserve congratulations and can take well-merited bows when the curtain rings down on the thought-provoking program next week.

By James Marlow

that the various constitutional provisions did not apply to women and they had no right to vote. The 19th Amendment had to be approved in 1920 to assure them that right.

And as late as 1937 the Supreme Court upheld the right of a state Georgia to have a poll tax. But, meanwhile, in other voting areas the court began to feel the 14th Amendment did apply to voting rights.

Douglas gave a good insight into why the court does not stick to past decisions of the court but in a number of cases has reversed them.

He said: "In determining what lines are unconstitutionally discriminatory, we have never been confined to historic notions of equality any more than we have restricted due process to a fixed catalogue of what was at a given time deemed to be the limits of fundamental rights."

"Notions of what constitutes equal treatment for purposes of the equal protection clause do change."

But Justice Hugo L. Black, one of the dissenters, while admitting he disliked the "policy of the poll tax," sharply rebuked the majority by saying it had given the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment a new meaning.

He said he concludes the court's real reason for its decision is its "deep-seated hostility and antagonism, which I share, although for other reasons he dissented to making payment of tax a prerequisite to voting."

A Good Idea

When Ed Wynn was wowing radio audiences some years ago in his role as the "Fire Chief" he used to start things off with, "The program's going to be different tonight..."

The Columbiana County Industrial Safety Committee has taken a page from Ed's book in planning the program for this year's county-wide dinner meeting at Columbiana on April 26.

An entertainer—with wit and memory and magic—will be the headline.

As Michael Schuller of Salem, committee chairman, expressed it: The feeling is that an evening of fun is a fit reward for the work already done. He hastened to emphasize that the safety objective is not being forgotten, however.

The idea has appeal. Others might do well to follow suit. "An evening of fun"—within the proper limits—could provide an enjoyable and beneficial interlude to those who find too little time to relax because of the every-day problems that keep them constantly on the serious side.

By Truman Twill

cannot come to terms with beliefs. While this condition persists, there is as much likelihood of religious unity as there is of the president of General Motors Corp. being elected chairman of the Communist apparatus in Russia.

We wonder about this fantasy that unity would be good for everything we think is wrong with us. We feel the opposite—that the thing which is least wrong with us is variety of beliefs.

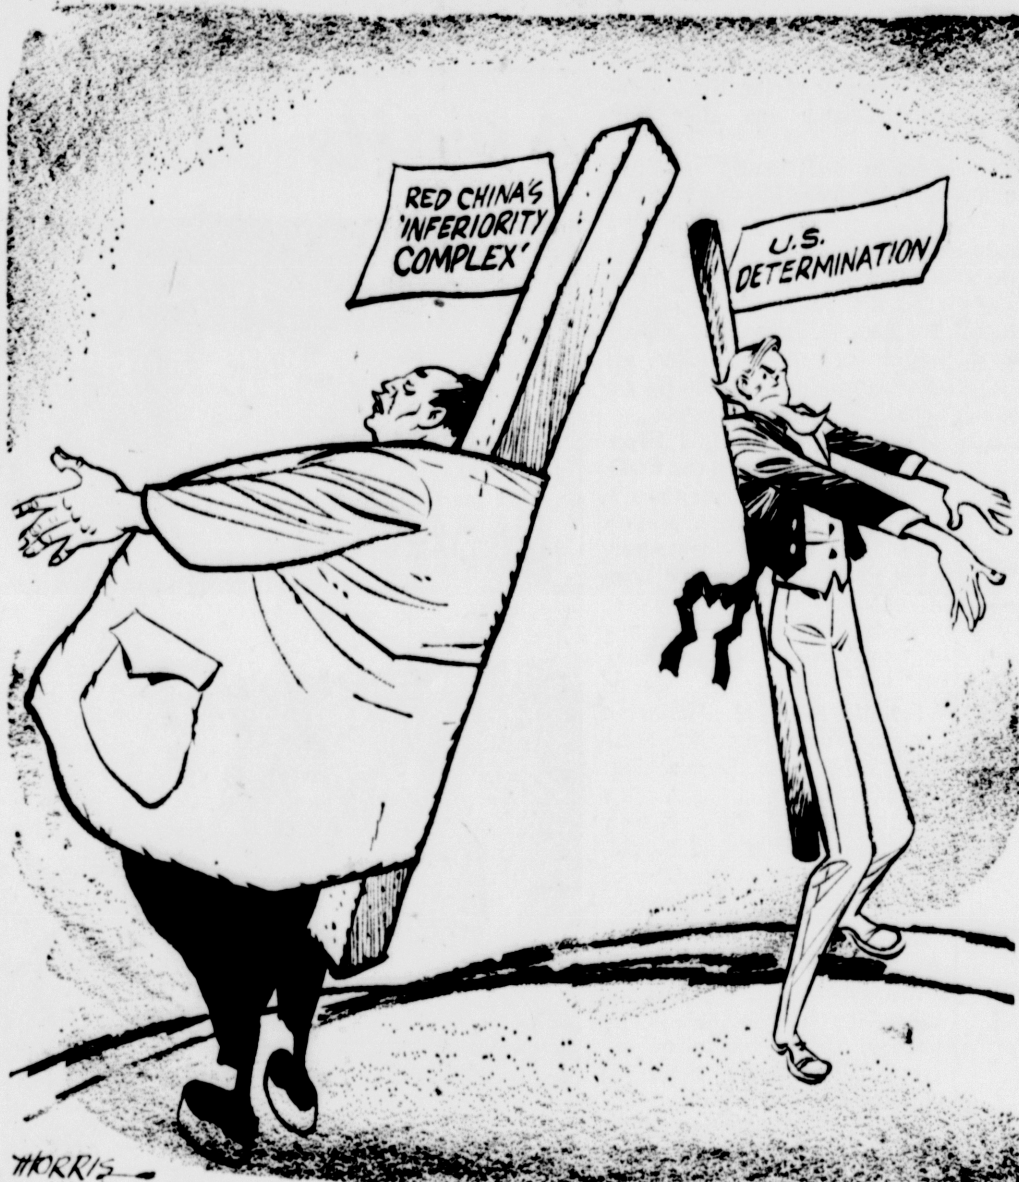

This gives anyone with an inquiring mind a chance to shop around until he finds what he is looking for—until he finds a belief that suits him. We'd hate to think life was like that old joke about the restaurant that had any kind of pie you wanted as long as it was apple, or the newer joke that a customer had his choice of colors when he bought a Model-T Ford, as long as he chose black.

I can't think how I got off on this subject, except that I wince when I hear the word "unity." Your kindly old auntie and I feel it betokens either a false hope or a deceiving proposition. In either event, it should be mistrusted. Having been married long and successfully and never having achieved unity of thought, we are gungho for disunity. Long may it pop and crackle. It's the spice of life.

Someone Will Have To Unbend

British Polls Pick Labor

By Raymond Moley

For the first time since 1950 this writer feels no urge to cross the ocean and witness a British campaign and election. For all the information provided in the British press and the manifestos of the Labor and Conservative parties make clear that this is the most listless and unimportant campaign since the days of Baldwin and Chamberlain before the war.

In the years since World War II and until now there were lofty and provoking leaders—Churchill, Aneurin Bevan, Attlee, Gaitskell, even Macmillan. Now the cast is mediocre and the script is dull.

The polls, which the British greatly overestimate, say that Labor will win a large majority in the House of Commons. But British polls have proved to be grossly inaccurate in past elections and Americans are not likely to take them seriously.

Labor, however, may win a larger majority than in 1964 largely because the British voter believes that "poor old Wilson" ought to have more time to prove himself.

UNDER NORMAL CIRCUMSTANCES a ruling party is kept in power. And things are very "normal" this year. "Normal" over there means a chronic discomfort and dissatisfaction that have prevailed ever since Britain faded as a great power. With only a few colonies left, and with France and Germany flourishing, the British must settle for short rations in world trade.

The success of Harold Wilson after he followed Hugh Gaitskell as leader of the Labor party has been due to his skill in exploiting Tory mistakes and in expropriating Conservative policies as his own. Now the Conservatives cannot gain much by damning socialism because Marxism has been abandoned and Wilson has even refrained from pursuing new adventures in nationalizing industry.

The large American industrial enterprises in the United Kingdom are too important to British workers to risk their displeasure.

In his last days Gaitskell told the members of his party that they must not live apart from the bourgeois middle class. One member in Wilson's government declared that he sent his son to Eton so that he might associate with his "social peers."

The Exchequer frames its policies to conform to the banking community.

In short, Labor has decided that economic survival is too important to risk by new social reforms.

ONE AMERICAN correspondent has written seriously that the British government under Wilson is "less socialistic than France under Charles de Gaulle."

In order to shore up sterling, Wilson has had no option except to borrow from abroad. The United States cannot afford the risk to itself of refusing fiscal and military help to Britain. And so, by a curious reversal in policy, Labor has been less anti-American than the Conservatives.

There is little that is new in the election manifestos of the two parties. In the past, Labor's manifestos have at least had a literary quality since so much of the writing was done by "intellectuals" who came from the universities.

They were not sound, often were unclear but they portrayed high purpose and vision. The Wilson manifesto is dull and heavily laden with well-worn clichés.

The Conservative manifesto is routine.

There is little choice in the essence of what the two parties are offering. That, and the general belief that nothing much can be done by any government to improve Britain's status in the world, means a relatively light vote and a heavy weight of public apathy.

IN A REPORT published in The New Leader, Ronald Steel writing from London has fairly well summed up the position of Wilson as his party goes to the polls:

"It seems increasingly clear that he (Wilson) pursues the policies he does because he believes that Britain's role as a world power lies in close association with the United States. If playing a world role means Britain shall be an auxiliary to Washington, then an auxiliary she shall be..."

"So long as nobody minds, so long as the Vietnamese war does not escalate into a war with China, so long as Britain can ride America's coattails and still not have to give up anything more than its political freedom of maneuver, so long as the threatened recession can be kept at bay and so long as the nation continues to enjoy the stylish decadence that is one of the great charms of Britain today, Harold Wilson is likely to stay on at 10 Downing St. He will stay on not because he is loved and not because his policies have been very successful, but rather, in the words of the Economist, 'because he has outworked all the others.'"

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Mildred Trbovich and Stanley Holava won the cake march prize during a dance sponsored by the Circle of Serbian Sisters of Midland for the benefit of the Red Cross flood fund.

Judge W. F. Lones appointed Mrs. Kathryn M. Conley of East Palestine as a member of the Columbiana County Soldiers Relief Commission.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Richard Greenawalt of Virginia Ave. Chester, a high school senior, won fourth prize in an oratorical contest held at Moundsville High School under auspices of the American Legion.

Mrs. Irene Lessell was elected president of the Altar Society of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. John R. Donley, former pastor of the Newell Church of the Nazarene, accepted a call to a church in Warren.

TEN YEARS AGO — Bob Zak, a Midland High School varsity regular for two seasons, was selected as the most valuable player in the ninth annual junior tournament.

Robert A. Douglass of Florida Ave. was named president of the Chester Citizens Community Development Committee.

Brake Time?

By David Lawrence

'War Prosperity' Raises Problem

President Johnson's hesitancy "to put brakes" on the current economic expansion is understandable, for it isn't easy to know at what point to interject an artificial factor of restraint. But the signs of a fundamental change in the national economy are plainly apparent.

Thus, the $13-billion appropriation for the Viet Nam War is not far different in economic consequences from a reduction of $13 billion of taxes—an increase in purchasing and an expanded demand for goods.

While the amount being spent on Viet Nam is a smaller percentage of the national income than was the case with the Korean War, it doesn't take many billions of added purchasing power to bring shortages of goods and higher prices as well as a scarcity of employees in certain jobs.

Some effects already are noticeable, however, and cannot be ignored. There is a lot of talk about a growing inflation. The average person isn't sure just what is meant by the word. If it is explained as a steady decline in the buying power of the dollar in the last few years, it is more readily grasped.

THE HOUSEWIFE ALREADY KNOWS what it means in terms of goods. Here, for instance, is a comparison of food prices a year ago and today as reported by a group of stores in a chain in the Washington, D.C., area:

	Year ago	March 19, 1966
Sirloin steak, lb.	$1.29	$1.39
Center-cut loin pork chops, lb.	1.09	1.39
Bacon, lb.	.65	.95
Ham, lb.	.59	.89
Chuck roast, lb.	.75	.79
Ground beef, lb.	.53	.59
Butter, lb.	.73	.78
Milk, 1/2 gal.	.49	.51
Margarine, 2 lb.	.59	.61
Eggs, large, grade A, doz.	.51	.65
Navy beans, lb.	.14	.19
Apples, 8 lb.	.69	.89
Oranges, doz.	34 1/2	.49

Now, it so happens that the price of bread and flour has stood still, and potatoes have gone down from 95 cents to 69 cents for 10 pounds. When the statisticians include these three items, they come up with an average that seems to cut down the extent of the impact of an increased cost of living. It's the cost of individual items, however, to the housewives that counts—not the averages.

The same thing is true about statistics of price increases relative to personal income. The prices that people pay in general have risen by 17.2 per cent in 10 years, which means that the overall cost of living has gone up so that it takes $1.17 now to pay for what 100 cents bought 10 years ago.

IT'S CONTENTED nevertheless that the wages and incomes of most people have increased during the same 10 years. If, for instance, the entire population is divided into the disposable income figure for the nation as a whole, it would appear that there has been an increase of 42 per cent in "per capita" income. This doesn't solve the problem of individuals earning relatively low incomes. Persons with incomes of $10,000 a year or more can absorb increases in food prices better than a family with less than $5,000 income per year, but they are all lumped together in the statistics about income growth.

In 1964 there were 16.7 million families in the United States with an income below $96.15 per week or $5,000 a year. This is a smaller number than 10 years earlier but it still reflects the unevenness of individual incomes. Everybody, of course, has to pay the same prices for food irrespective of income.

THIS IS ONE REASON why there is pressure now to get through Congress an increase in the minimum pay per hour required by federal law. The change is eminently desirable, but it also means that, as the lower-rate employees move up, the workers in other groups with higher wage scales will feel entitled to proportionate increases. Thus, a new wage and price structure is formed, irrespective of the ability of other citizens to pay for what they must buy.

All this merely illustrates the pains of evolution as a war of uncertain future is borne by an economy which has already been stimulated artificially by tax reductions and huge deficits in the federal treasury. It's inevitable that "war prosperity" will not be allowed to drift on indefinitely without some restraints on prices and wages.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW: I have been reading where there's a chance East Liverpool could lose its branch of Kent State University.

People should get out and do all they can to keep it here.

The KSU branch helps parents who have children and can't afford to send them away because of the expense. Also, parents worry so much when their youngsters are away.

My sister and her husband put all three of their children through college, but they certainly would have been happy if they could have gotten two years here at home.

If children would only realize what two years in college mean. I never had a chance like that when I was young. My two nephews both went to Kent State and they praise it very highly.

We should thank Frank Dawson and the others who helped get the Kent branch here and stand back of them.

Young Driver Due In Court After Pursuit

Cited after pursuit Thursday night by the State Highway Patrol, a 20-year-old St. Clair Township motorist is scheduled to appear Wednesday before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a reckless driving charge.

He is Wayne Cranston of the Westfield Rd., taken into custody near his home last night at 6:05 by Patrolman J. W. VanHorne after a pursuit that began in Glenmoor.

The affidavit alleges that Cranston drove recklessly by attaining a speed of 70 miles an hour in a 40-mile zone, passing another auto over a yellow line and attempting to elude the officer.

The officer said he turned his patrol car around and took up pursuit after observing the defendant driving on Route 267 at Glenmoor at what appeared to be excessive speed.

He said Cranston's car hit a 70-mile pace in a 40-mile zone and that the defendant passed another auto over a yellow line, then made a left turn onto the Westfield Rd.

The officer said he pursued the driver for another three-quarters of a mile before Cranston halted. The defendant said he fled because he thought the registration of his auto was improper, but a check showed it was legal, the patrolman said.

Another driver cited Thursday night is due for a Municipal Court hearing Friday.

George J. Stoffel, 22, of 1002 Florence St. was cited at 8:15 p. m. yesterday on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. by the patrol on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a muffler.

Man, 21, Gets Probation In Car Use Case

A 21-year-old East End man was placed on probation to his step-father today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after admitting he drove the step-father's auto without permission and demolished it in a traffic accident at Steubenville.

James Saunders, 21, of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. was given a suspended six - month term in County Jail on a misdemeanor charge alleging he drove a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

The charge was signed by his step-father, the Rev. Henry Carpenter of 1053 Pennsylvania Ave., who alleged his 1957 model auto was stolen from Pennsylvania Ave. on March 12. Police said the car was demolished and Saunders was taken into custody on a reckless driving charge in a traffic mishap March 15 at Steubenville.

Queried by the court, Saunders said he previously served a penitentiary term on an auto theft charge. He said he has been unable to hold a steady job since because of his record.

The judge commented that he did not feel Saunders would be rehabilitated by returning him to the penitentiary. He asked the defendant if he had learned any job skills while in the penitentiary.

"I didn't learn anything but hate," he replied.

The step-father agreed to take the young man into his home while he looks for employment. "I want to help you," the judge told Saunders. "I want to see that you are rehabilitated."

In suspending the jail sentence, the judge instructed Saunders to refrain from drinking, obey all other laws and make an effort to find a steady job.

Meanwhile, the judge granted a continuance until Monday morning in the preliminary hearing for Franklin D. Watkins, 19, of East Liverpool, charged with auto theft.

Watkins is represented by Bernard Fineman. Taylor waived a preliminary hearing Wednesday and was bound over to the Grand Jury.

Dolores Thomas of Westfield Rd.

Anthony Tridico presided. The next regular meeting will be April 14.

He had pleaded not guilty at a preliminary hearing last week and retained an attorney for yesterday's trial.

Fined for speeding were Frank Ruscoe of New Waterford, Janet Horst of New Waterford R.D. 1 and Edward L. Carter of 610 Louisiana Ave., Chester, $15 and costs, and James H. Woodson and Larry Dupler of Lisbon R.D. 4, both $20 and costs.

The victim was Miss Jean Parsley, about 21, of Williamson. She and two other persons were taken from the burning four-story brick building by firemen.

Authorities said Miss Parsley died of burns and smoke inhalation before reaching a local hospital. Carl Pinson and Harry Blackburn, both of Williamson, were undergoing treatment for minor burns.

Snow Blamed In 9 District Car Mishaps

Icy and snow-covered roads were blamed for most of nine area traffic mishaps—including one on the Chester Bridge—Thursday and early today, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

James Lyle Littell, 65, of Lisbon St. Ext. escaped injury when his 1964 sedan was struck in the rear at the intersection of County Rd. 434 (former Route 30) and Route 170 at 5:10 a.m. today.

Officers said his car was hit by a 1959 convertible driven by David Griswold, 18, of Warren when Littell halted for a stop sign.

Wilda Clutter, 46, of 2200 Danbury Ave., Wellsville, faces a hearing next Tuesday in Municipal Court on a charge connected with a collision on the Chester Bridge last night at 9:15.

Her 1965 coach hit the rear of a 1965 sedan operated by Mable Kane, 56, of 403 Wedgewood Ave., which was sliding back and forth on the bridge roadway because of icy conditions, officers said.

Arlene Bachus, 57, of 418 Gardendale Ave. had minor injuries, but did not require treatment officers said. She was a passenger in the Kane auto.

The Wellsville woman was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

John Thomas Riley, 40, of Rankin St. was cited for driving while intoxicated and public intoxication after a collision on the Y. & O. Rd. at 11:10 p.m.

Officers said he was headed north about a half-mile south of Route 30 left of center and his 1964 coach hit head-on an oncoming 1963 sedan driven by Paul Lawrence Grace, 47, of Weirton.

A truck driven by Alfred P. DiCesare, 37, of Salem and a car operated by Joseph Hollister, 53, of Toronto collided on St. Clair Ave. Ext. about a half-mile south of Calcutta.

DiCesare was headed north when Hollister drove from Berkshire Rd. and the two vehicles collided, officers said. There is no stop sign at the intersection, they added.

Sue Hoppel, 28, of Valley Dr. was cited for speeding after her 1965 convertible struck an embankment along the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd., a mile west of Calcutta yesterday morning.

Officers said she was headed west and lost control of the car at a curve and the auto spun around and went off the left side of the roadway. She received a head bruise, officers said.

Wendell Russell, 43, of Simmons Ave. was also cited for speeding when he lost control of his 1958 coach near the same site and the car hit a utility pole.

A St. Aloysius school bus operated by Raymond Campbell, 31, of 1825 Park Way received minor damage when it was struck by a skidding auto on Park Way yesterday morning. Wayne Goodballet, 33, of 413 Maplewood Ave. lost control on the road about a third of a mile from Pennsylvania Ave. and his 1964 sedan hit the bus. Goodballet was charged with driving left of center.

Robert Charles McConahy, 23, of 475 W. Martin St., East Palestine, was cited after his sports auto collided head-on with another auto on Route 165 just south of the Mahoning County line yesterday morning.

McConahy was headed north when he lost control and skidded across the road into the path of a sedan driven by Lincoln Snyder, 43, of North Lima. McConahy was charged with speeding.

Officers are continuing investigation of a mishap on Route 30 two miles north of Route 30 in which a sedan owned by George Thompson, 22, of Columbiana, stopped partially on the highway, was struck by a baking truck.

It's Scotland's Loss And Greenland's Gain

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—A young salmon, tagged in the North Esk River of Scotland in November 1964, has been discovered in the feeding grounds off Greenland. Scotland has feared for some time that salmon migrate from here.

Last year representatives of the Scottish salmon fishing interests expressed great concern at the big increase in the amount of salmon fishing carried out by Eskimos in the far north in recent years.

The fear in Scotland is that if too many salmon are caught in far-off waters an insufficient number will get back to their native rivers to spawn. An industry could be ruined.

United States' private investment in British Honduras last year was estimated at $10 million.

Girl Injured As Car Veers Off Highway

A 19-year-old East End woman was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when the car in which she was a passenger veered off the roadway near the Beaver Creek Bridge early this morning and plunged into a ditch.

Linda Nation of 453 1st Ave. suffered lacerations of the left upper arm, lacerations of the knee and a possible fractured jaw.

Ohioville Patrolman Mike Hayden said she was a passenger in a car driven by Joseph Arthur, also of 1st Ave., who is being held at the Midland jail on a traffic charge.

Hayden said Arthur was headed west about 4:48 a.m. at a high rate of speed when the car went up over an embankment near the intersection of Route 68 and the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd., veered through a field, went back onto the roadway and into a ditch on the opposite side.

The car was demolished, the police officer said.

Hayden said Arthur had a minor head injury.

Argument Continues On Indonesia Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Argument over the makeup of the new Indonesian Cabinet continued today with President Sukarno apparently putting up resistance to the appointment of an anti-Communist government.

Radio Jakarta also quoted Lt. Gen. Suharto, the country's new strongman, as saying "opportunists" and "vested interests" were trying to interfere. Observers said he apparently was referring to several political parties with nominees for the Cabinet.

Sources said the new Cabinet probably would have 24 to 30 members, compared with the unwieldy 100-man Cabinet Sukarno put together over the years.

The Indonesian Parliament, an appointed advisory assembly, urged Thursday that the new Cabinet be free from Communist elements. One of Suharto's first acts after assuming power from Sukarno two weeks ago was to ban the Indonesian Communist party.

The Indonesian Foreign Office ordered Peking's New China News Agency to shut down its Jakarta bureau temporarily and revoked the accreditation of its correspondents, the official news agency Antara said.

Informed sources said Indonesia was negotiating with Thailand to buy rice to meet a growing food shortage. Terms for payment remain the big question, the sources added.

Indonesia has no foreign exchange reserves, but the anti-Communist Thai government may extend credits to the new Suharto regime, some Indonesians believe.

Clouds Part; 4 Climbers Near Summit

KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (AP)—Clouds parted briefly over blizzard-swept Mt. Eiger today, revealing four men struggling upward about 250 feet below the summit.

There had been fear for their safety after 16 hours had elapsed without contact by radio.

The four are members of the five-man Alpine team striving to reach the 13,036-foot summit by way of the sheer north face despite plummeting temperatures and howling winds. The summit never has been reached from the north face.

The four were spotted by a telescope from an observation point in the Kleine Scheidegg pass. But as a German observer counted the men, a cloud shrouded the mountain again obscuring visibility.

A four man relief group was on the way up to establish contact.

The relief party hoped to come near the summit by the comparatively easy west side route. But the temperatures nearing 40 below zero and the wind estimated at 100 miles an hour, even that venture involved deadly risk.

Kiwanis Speaker Cites Kent Center Advantages

The combination of college instruction at a small school and the tremendous resources of a large university was one of the advantages of the Kent State University Academic Centers listed by a speaker at the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

John Longworth of Salem, reviewing the history of public education in Ohio, referred to the current decision facing the Ohio Board of Regents on whether to grant a charter to the proposed Columbiana County Community College.

Longworth, Republican candidate for state senator, described a number of factors which caused him to favor broadening the two Kent centers in the county rather than establishing a community college.

Kent is able to attract and retain top-level professors and instructors because of its salary schedule; Kent is already an accredited institution compared with the planned college which would not be accredited for four to six years, and Kent would not require a local tax levy, he declared.

Further, Kent courses are creditable to four-year degrees without the problems of transferring to other institutions where credits might not count, he said.

A former East Liverpool resident who recently was graduated from Rutgers, Longworth spoke of the increasing local tax burden for public education.

The increasing number of students due to the expansion of population and the growing percentage of students remaining in school for graduation has brought a need for more buildings and more teachers, he said.

This is reflected in the rising cost of education which the local districts are having to support because the amount of state aid has become proportionately less.

"The U.S. system of public education has been a good one, and at the local level shows local government at its best," he said.

Longworth quoted the cost of per-pupil education at the local level compared with the cost of various federal programs which he termed a "wasteful squandering of money."

He was introduced by Ronald Mason.

Among Leading Theologians

Church-State Ties Meet With Hearty Agreement

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Some of the world's leading Roman Catholic, Jewish and Protestant scholars, sizing up what they consider the right relationships between church and state, today found themselves in hearty accord.

Their harmony on the issue was in contrast to some of the sharp conflict of old, and reflected the impact of new approaches set forth by Vatican Council II.

After the Rev. Roberto Tucci, an Italian Jesuit and editor of Rome's La Civiltà Cattolica, delivered an analysis Thursday of the church's proper role in civil life, several theologians of other faiths registered strong approval.

"An exciting and sound charter for Christian political involvement," commented the Rev. Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, a Presbyterian scholar of Stanford University.

The Rev. Dr. Elwyn Smith, of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, said the Catholic interpretation "cut POAU down with one stroke."

The reference was to a Washington, D.C., organization, Protestants and Other Americans United, which has been sharply critical of Roman Catholic policy in regard to public affairs.

The international conference at the University of Notre Dame, bringing together outstanding scholars from Europe and the Americas, also heard the Rev. John Courtney Murray, of Woodstock College, Md., detail the newly affirmed Catholic principles on religious liberty.

They affirmed, he said, "that every man has a right to religious freedom — a right based on the dignity of the human person and that is therefore to be formally recognized as a civil right, protected by arms of constitutional law."

Father Murray, the chief architect of the church's new affirmation of religious liberty, noted it stresses religion should be free of "coercive intrusions from without, but that it should not enter" the outer government sphere.

Asked about the traditionally Roman Catholic practice of establishing special concordats with various governments, he commented: "I don't think concordats have much of a future."

Father Tucci, in outlining Roman Catholic position regarding relation to government, said it must shun governmentally established religion or church.

"The act of faith is in fact free," he said and it is impossible to impose it.

However, he said Christians should assume political responsibilities and in doing so accept "the rules of the democratic method," even when that puts his cause at a disadvantage.

The girl, Carmen Capri, was struck by the 8 - car freight which hurled her 79 feet.

The engineer, Carl Peters, 48, of Kingsville, did not realize that the train had struck the girl until he got to Lorain, about 20 miles away.

Inspectors found the girl's purse smashed to the front of the locomotive there.

A classmate told police that Carmen saw the red warning lights flashing, and encouraged her to try to beat the train, also.

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV's Big Sell In High Gear

Due to technical difficulties beyond the control of the TV networks, nobody knows for sure yet which new shows will be in next season's schedules, despite the fact CBS, ABC and NBC are announcing new ones every week.

"Now they have to see if they can sell the shows," Hal Humphrey, an agency man, who prefers anonymity, "And if a show isn't sold, then it has to be pulled back."

Accordingly, says the ad man, the horse - trading presently being conducted among the networks and big advertisers is getting extremely tense. Millions of dollars ride on every show in prime evening time.

SPONSORS NATURALLY try to buy in as cheaply as possible. The spread between a "good buy" and a "tough buy" can be as much as $30,000 to $40,000 per minute. For example, a show in a hot time spot can demand as much as $85,000 for a minute commercial, while others may go for "only" $30,000 or $40,000 a minute.

At ABC, the "third network" in the rating scramble, the jockeying is particularly wild. It thought the R. J. Reynolds tobacco firm was set to buy the new Milton Berle show, but Reynolds wanted the old "12 O'Clock High" which ABC had about decided to scuttle for next season. Paradoxically, the Sunday night "FBI" series which ABC considered a trouble show for a while is now all set with Ford Motor Co. as next year's sponsor.

"You'll see more Ford cars in that series than FBI agents from here on," says my ad man friend. "I guess Ford figured it was the only way to combat Chevrolet with its Sunday night Bonanza hit."

The man who'll really profit from both "12 O'Clock High" and "FBI" getting new sponsor life is Quinn Martin, the independent producer who also has "The Fugitive" (renewed for next season) and "The Invaders," a new hour about a Martian invasion of earth, which ABC already has scheduled for Tuesday at 10 p.m.

Scuttlebutt has it that ABC was ready to junk "12 O'Clock High" because it didn't like the idea of Martin's having four shows on its network, because that gives him too much bargaining power.

Does quality of a show have anything to do with a sponsor's making his choice? Not much, really. When it's a new show, he's seen only the pilot film and the quality put into pilots today usually can't be sustained. ABC, for example, has put a half-hour World War II series in Mondays at 8:30 p.m. next fall. It's called "Rat Patrol" and the pilot reportedly cost $350,000. The budget for subsequent episodes can't run more than $75,000, or somebody's in big trouble.

At NBC the program strategists have pencilled in for Thursdays at 8:30 p.m. a series on space exploration. It stars William Shatner and was made at Desilu some time ago at a cost of $600,000 for just the pilot film (one hour). Before it was sold this year much of the pilot was re-shot. An awful lot of ingenuity must go into the other episodes to top what's been done in this first one.

Ironically, none of the 33 or 34 new series currently in the tentative schedules of the three networks has kicked up any real excitement along Madison Ave. says my informant, and this fact has cast a kind of pall over the industry's leaders.

Most of the excitement, if it can be called that, is in the time - sales departments of the three networks. Not only is it necessary for them to sell out all time available, but each sponsor must be juggled so that he is not in conflict on the same show, or sometimes even in the same time spot, with a competitor.

This can be tough in this day of corporate diversification where companies like Procter & Gamble and Lever Bros., two of TV's larger advertisers, make several different products, all of which they will want commercially spotted in the best time spots and on the best nights.

Frequently a sponsor will stay with a particular show, not because he likes it, but because he needs Tuesday night at 9:30 and doesn't want to relinquish it for some competitor to grab.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Small Boy Clowns To Attract Attention

A child over six or seven who does not have interests and skills in sports or is undersized and can't compete well in the usual activities of his age group may try to win attention by clowning.

In his abortive efforts he may act in so many babyish ways as to cause his playmates and Dr. Garry Myers teachers to treat him as younger than he is in years. A mother from New Jersey writes of her son, 10: "He is small for his age, weighs only 63 lbs., does not participate in sports, but is well - coordinated; receives B's and C's on his report cards, is in the highest reading and arithmetic group, fails to complete assignments on time and, according to the teacher, thinks everything is a joke."

He's a daydreamer and a talker. He's "on-stage" before his friends and classmates, clowning and trying to make them laugh - I'm afraid, at him, not with him!

"His teachers, since second grade, have told me he is immature but fail to tell me what to do about it. How can my husband and I help him to grow up? Is this something that will just take time? He is a Cub Scout and takes accordion lessons once a week. He is our first child and has a sister eight years old in the third grade who is an average student."

"My husband is home evenings and every weekend. We take camping vacations together and take the children on all our trips. Everything is done as a family group, so he is not growing up without a father - image. Please try and help us."

My reply in part: You parents seem to be having many good ways with that boy. It's too bad the teachers of your boy have not explained to you what they mean when they say your boy is immature. They may mean that he acts a little younger than average children his age.

I think you ought to be encouraged that your son makes such good grades. It could be that he feels very inferior and finds that clowning gives him relief. Being under - size could be a factor. Any means for helping him compensate desirably should help. Study him in the home and try to make sure that he feels as important, wanted and secure in the family as his sister.

TRY TO attract some playmates his age to your home where you can study him and guide him in being a better playmate. Dad might help your son learn some play skills and skills at making things with tools - any kind of creation - which his playmates would admire. Such achievement might help him compensate for his sensitiveness about his size.

My bulletins "The Show - Off Child," "The Child Who Is Shy," "Your Child and His Playmates," and "The Child Who Doesn't Concentrate" may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Congressional Probe Hinted In Police Wiretapping Case

WASHINGTON (AP) - The controversy over alleged illegal wiretapping by the Pennsylvania state police continued today with the possibility of a congressional investigation.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., conferred with Sen. Edward Long, D-Mo., chairman of a subcommittee that has been looking into the subject of wiretapping across the country.

According to a Clark aide Thursday the Pennsylvania senior senator felt that Long "seemed to be favorably disposed" to adding the Pennsylvania situation to the committee agenda.

Said Clark in an earlier statement: "The committee's authority justifies a federal inquiry into Pennsylvania wiretapping charges."

Clark said that Republican Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania "erred in his attempt to silence the Pennsylvania House of Representatives inquiry into illegal wiretapping."

Scranton's stand that the matter should be left to the state attorney general has not brought about the desired action, said Clark.

Under a 1957 state law wiretapping is illegal in Pennsylvania.

Last month a General Assembly committee in Harrisburg heard testimony from a state police sergeant that he engaged in wiretapping at the direction of superiors. Gov. Scranton subsequently ordered state police officials not to testify on the matter.

Give Warning To Pilot

Beep Sound, Arrow Seen Averting Plane Collisions

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — An airplane pilot suddenly hears a beeping sound, looks to his dash panel, sees an arrow pointing upward, and swings his craft in that direction.

That, McDonnell Aircraft Corp., said Thursday, is how air collision can be prevented.

McDonnell calls it Eliminate Range Zero System (EROS), a device that first warns the pilot his craft is approaching another airplane dangerously and then shows him what action to take — up, down or level off.

"This could have prevented air collisions that have taken hundreds of lives in the past," said one McDonnell spokesman. "It could have prevented the crash of two airliners over the Grand Canyon in 1956 that killed 128 persons."

EROS gives a 60-second warning at speeds of up to four times the speed of sound and beeps a collision signal at 1½ miles apart for subsonic air speeds.

William Osmun, manager of technical information services for the Air Transport Association, said in Washington that "as far as we know, McDonnell is more advanced than anybody in this field. We don't know of anybody else who has the actual hardware ready."

The Federal Aviation Agency, airlines representatives and military officials have been discussing the collision avoidance device with McDonnell for some time. No specific production plans have yet been made.

McDonnell, builder of U.S. spacecraft, did not say what the system would cost "because there are too many variables."

The spokesman said the only possible collisions between airplanes using the device "would come during tight military formation flying when planes are within feet of each other."

Work began on EROS in 1957 and was intensified in 1960 when two fighter planes collided over the St. Louis McDonnell plant and two men were killed.

McDonnell has been testing 26 of the warning systems in the company's Phantom jets, manufactured for the U.S. armed forces. EROS is mounted under the aircraft. It can protect 1,000 planes at a time within a 40-mile radius of each other.

EROS works by radio signals transmitted every two seconds. Calculation of the time delay between transmission from one plane and reception by another enables the device to measure the distance between planes, the rate of approach, and the altitude of both aircraft. Pilots are told at the same time what to do by up-and-down arrows or a red level-off light in their cabins.

Stassen, Murray Win Top Spot On Pennsylvania Ballot

HARRISBURG (AP) — Independent candidates for governor and lieutenant governor in both parties won the top spots Thursday on May 17 primary election ballots.

Harold E. Stassen of Philadelphia, former governor Monnesota an unsuccessful candidate for Pennsylvania's Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1958, got the first position on the Republican ballot by lot in ceremonies at the capitol.

Following Stassen on the Republican ballot for governor were Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, endorsed by the regular GOP organization, and Dr. George J. Breet, a Lancaster County dental surgeon.

On the Democratic ballot, state Rep. Irwin L. Murray of Emporium picked the No. 1 position, followed by Milton Shapp of Philadelphia, and state Sen. Robert P. Casey of Scranton, the party organization choice.

For lieutenant governor on the Republican side, former Superior Court Judge Blair F. Gunther of Pittsburgh, placed first, followed by Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandrini, Shafer's running mate.

On the Democratic side, James R. Kelley of Greensburg, Shapp's running mate, won the first spot, followed by state Sen. Leonard C. Staisey of Duquesne, Casey's running mate.

Commerce Secretary John K. Tabor of Pittsburgh, running on the Shafer-Alessandrini ticket won first place on the Republican ballot for secretary of internal affairs over J. Warren Keel of Philadelphia, an independent candidate.

Miss Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs, was opposed for renomination on the Democratic ballot.

These are the ballot positions for judge of the Superior Court—two to be elected:

Republican ticket—Incumbent Judge G. Harold Watkins of Ashland; incumbent Judge Theodore O. Spaulding of Philadelphia, and Judges Juanita Kidd Stout of Philadelphia and Clinton Budd Palmer of Easton, both Democrats who cross-filed in the Republican primary.

Democratic ticket — Palmer, Stout, Spaulding, and Watkins. Watkins and Spaulding are Republicans who cross-filed in the Democratic primary.

Akron U. Coach To Speak Here . . .

Highly-successful Tony LaTerza, head basketball coach at Akron University and a frequent visitor to the NCAA small college finals, will be guest speaker Wednesday night when the East Liverpool High School cage squad is honored at Westgate School.

LaTerza, who has just completed his seventh season at Akron, now stands as the winningest coach, percentage-wise, in the school's history, with a .774 average.

Akron has been the powerhouse of the Ohio Conference the last three years, taking the basketball title each time.

Under LaTerza, Akron advanced to the finals of the small college NCAA tournament two years in succession, 1963 and 1964, only to lose in the finals to powerful Evansville.

In 1965, Akron lost in the first round but this past season the Zips finished third, after suffering a 105-75 defeat at the hands of Kentucky Wesleyan, which went on to win the NCAA title.

After losing to the Kentucky five, Akron bounced back to defeat North Dakota, the No. 2-ranked team in small college circles last season.

The Zips compiled a 24-4 record this year and the 24 victories matched the highest winning total at the school.

LaTerza was a standout in football and basketball at Akron and gained All-Ohio in both sports.

He coached basketball at Akron St. Vincent High School and joined the Akron staff in 1955 as an assistant basketball and football coach.

LaTerza, who is 37, is single.

The banquet is being co-sponsored by the ELHS Athletic Association and the Kiwanis Club, with Merrill Hall, chairman of the dinner.

Dayton And Rossford? . . .

TAKE YOUR pick. The races for the Ohio Class AA and A basketball titles appear wide open this year as action gets under way today in the semi-final rounds.

A poll of sportswriters favored Dayton Chaminade in the Class AA ranks. We feel the winner of tonight's Dayton-Warren game will take the title, with the nod tonight going to Chaminade.

In Class A circles, we'll take a stab and pick Rossford to win the honors, although we understand Rittman is a tough customer.

COACH Frank Chan indicated that the Potters are attempting to schedule Pittsburgh Schenley in basketball next season.

Schenley has a good shot at the Pennsylvania state crown Saturday night against Chester. Ken Durrett, the 6-6 all-stater, is only a junior and would be back next year to face the Potters if the two schools can get together on dates.

Mercer (27-0) Attempts To Break Tourney Jinx

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Mercer basketball team that rolled to a 27-0 record clashes with Darby-Colwyn for the PIAA Class B Championship—a crown that has eluded it three times—while Jim Thorpe and Williamsburg meet for the Class C title tonight in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena.

Three times in the last four years Mercer has competed for the championships and each time the Mustangs have been turned back; by Darby-Colwyn in 1962 and 1963 and Montrose in 1964.

Jim Thorpe (District 2) and Williamsburg (District 6) have won the Class C championship. Jim Thorpe took the crown in 1962, and Williamsburg won in 1965. They'll meet in the first game of the doubleheader.

Spearheading Mercer (District 10) will be Bill Snodgrass, a 6-1 senior who has averaged 23 points a game, and Bob Rhoades a 6-2 junior who has averaged just shy of 20 points a game.

Mercer, the western Pennsylvania PIAA champ, will utilize the fast break, a maneuver it has honed to fine perfection in averaging 85 points a game and going over 100 points 10 times.

The high-scoring Mustangs will be put to the test by Darby-Colwyn (Dist. 1), a team that has held its opponents in check while scoring about 60 points a game.

D-C, 22-2, is a well-balanced team keyed to defense. Its chief threat is Ed Hewitt, a 6-3 senior who has caught fire in the playoffs. Hewitt, who averaged 14 points a game during the season, has dumped in 26 points during the playoffs.

The Class C title game promises to be a high-scoring contest.

Williamsburg has soared over the 100 point mark 11 times in posting a 24-0 record, and Jim Thorpe has gone over that point four times for a 23-4 record.

Williamsburg, the western representative from Blair County, is geared to the shooting of Bill Kagarise, who has scored 815 points and has averaged 34 points a game. In one game he scored 62 points and in another 60.

Jim Thorpe is expected to counter with its favorite defense—the full-court press.

Bobby Brown is its scoring leader with a 20.7 average. Thorpe's coach, Phil (Pip) Rader, is completing his first year at the helm.

Chester (Dist. 1) and Pittsburgh Schenley (Dist. 8) meet Saturday night in the arena for the PIAA Class A championship.

Accountant Testifies To Losses Of Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Baseball attorneys, with an accountant as their witness, have started presenting evidence to support their claim that it was not financially feasible for the Braves to remain in Milwaukee.

The key witness in the Circuit Court trial of Wisconsin's anti-trust suit against baseball is Ronald A. Wipperman of Milwaukee, a partner in a firm which has audited accounts of the Braves since 1960.

He testified Thursday that the Chicago group which bought the club in 1962 from Louis Perini incurred a net loss of $43,373 in its first year of ownership.

Wipperman is expected to make a detailed explanation of the Braves' financial affairs for 1963, 1964, and 1965.

His cross-examination by the state is likely to concern the contention of special counsel Willard S. Stafford that heavy borrowing forced the Braves to ask the National League in October 1964 for permission to transfer to Atlanta.

The league's approval of the move and rejection of a Milwaukee bid for a replacement club led to the state's charges of conspiracy to boycott the city as a major league site.

Braves Board Chairman William C. Bartholomay has been quoted as saying the team owners lost $3.5 million in the three years they operated the club, 1962-1965.

Ward Witherspoon of Coffeyville, Kan., scored a hole-in-one on the 200-yard No. 4 hole at Coffeyville Country Club—duplicating a shot by his son, Bruce, 10 months earlier.

Will Sign Saturday

Winters, Potter Grid Star, Accepts Scholarship At Pitt

East Liverpool High School's talented passer Chuck Winters, sought by more than 25 major schools, has accepted an athletic scholarship to the University of Pittsburgh.

He will sign Saturday at Pittsburgh when he meets with the Panthers' new head coach Dave Hart, a spokesman for the university announced.

The Potter quarterback is one of several freshmen recruited by Hart, who is endeavoring to rebuild Pitt's grid fortunes after succeeding John Michelsen.

WINTERS hit the target for touchdown passes in his last six games and was one of the standouts on the 1965 Potter eleven.

Hart said Pitt was very happy to obtain Winters and Steve Petro, assistant coach, in charge of recruiting, said Winters was one of those players on Pitt's "really wanted list."

Winters will receive the top scholarship allowed by the NCAA, which includes tuition fees, room and board, books and $15 monthly for laundry, Petro said.

"WE SCREENED between 50 and 60 quarterbacks and signed three, with Winters one of our top choices," Petro added.

Winters, who was an all-district basketball selection and second leading scorer on the team, made the all-district honorable mention list in football.

One of his outstanding performances last season came when he directed a second-half attack against Midland, scoring three touchdowns in the last two periods. He closed out the season with a brilliant showing against Alliance in a game the Potters lost by two points.

SCHOOLS from the Big Ten, Mid-American Conference and many independents were after Winters, who also is one of the top students on the football squad.

Schools seeking his services included Louisiana State, Northwestern, Virginia Tech, West Virginia, William and Mary, Ohio University, Xavier Cincinnati, Clemson, Dartmouth and Alabama.

WINTERS, after seeing little action his junior year at East Liverpool, stepped into the starting quarterback job last season.

He got off to a slow start after being hospitalized due to heat exhaustion and missed the opener with Beaver Local. He sat out most of the first half of the Midland game, but came off the bench in the second half to spark a Potter victory.

Pitt plays one of the toughest schedules in the country year in and year out, with such foes as Rose Bowl champion UCLA, Notre Dame, Syracuse and Penn State on the 1966 schedule.

The last East Liverpool griddier to attend Pitt was Tom Jenkins, who played on the Panthers' 1955 Sugar Bowl team. Winters is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Winters of N. Shady Lane Dr.

Sutton, Moeller Impressive

Youngsters Might Replace Koufax, Drysdale For LA

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now the Los Angeles Dodgers can start worrying about Don Sutton and Joe Moeller asking for a million dollars.

The young right-handers, seeking spots on the depleted Dodger pitching staff, turned in a collectively brilliant performance Thursday as Los Angeles won only its third game of the spring, whipping Cincinnati 6-0.

Sutton, who will be 21 next week, allowed only one hit through the first five innings, and Moeller, 23 last month, gave up two the rest of the way.

That gave Sutton a spring record of two runs and four hits for 11 1-3 innings while Moeller has not permitted an earned run in 11 innings.

Their performances undoubtedly are encouraging to Manager Walter Alston, who faces defense of the world championship without the nucleus of the championship team—pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

The Dodgers are no closer to signing their aces now than they were four weeks ago—when the pair became holdouts.

Koufax and Drysdale, who won 49 games between them last season, want three-year contracts calling for $500,000 each, but the Dodgers want to pay Koufax $100,000 and Drysdale $85,000, both under one-year pacts.

With the two on the sidelines, Sutton seeks to replace one of them after only one year of pro ball. While playing in the California and Texas Leagues last season, Sutton compiled a 23-7 record while completing 24 of 31 starts.

Moeller is making his third try at gaining a permanent spot on the pitching staff. He was with the Dodgers for part of the 1962 season and for all of the 1964 season, but his total record was 13-18. He spent last year with Spokane of the Pacific Coast League where he was 7-10.

In increasing their record to 3-9, the Dodgers received help from Cincinnati's Deron Johnson, who is playing left field after starring at third base last year. With two out and the bases loaded in the fourth inning, Johnson dropped Nate Oliver's fly ball in short left, allowing his three runners to score.

In another three-hitter, California edged the Chicago Cubs 1-0 on Ed Bailey's run-scoring single in the second inning. Jim McGlothlin, Lou Burdette and Chuck Estrada stopped the Cubs.

Kansas City snapped Detroit's seven-game winning streak 6-5, the winning run coming across on Wayne Causey's two-out, ninth-inning single but the Chicago White Sox extended their winning streak to seven, beating Minnesota 8-6 on Tommy Agee's two-run homer in the ninth.

Boston, on the other hand, suffered its sixth straight setback, dropping an 11-4 decision to Atlanta. Joe Torre hit a two-run homer for the Braves while Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou each had three hits.

Roberto Clemente's eighth-inning homer snapped a tie and sent Pittsburgh to a 7-5 triumph over the New York Mets while Ron Brand's two-run, bases-loaded single in the eighth gave Houston a 6-4 victory over Philadelphia.

St. Louis bombed the New York Yankees 12-4 as Mike Shannon drove in five runs, and Orlando Cepeda's 500-foot blast led a four-homer barrage that powered San Francisco past Cleveland 10-4.

Midland Club Wins Two In Pistol Loop

Midland Sportsmens Club gained a double victory over Christy's TV in the Beaver Valley Conservation League pistol competition Wednesday night.

The Midlanders downed the visitors, 1003-982, in center fire shooting and 1313-1014, in .22 rim fire competition.

Joe Martell led the center fire shooters for the victors with a 261. He was followed by Carl Martell, 249, Bill Phillips, 247 and Joe Goyak, 246.

George Mickey fired a 263 in losing cause for top score in center fire. George Christy hit a 260, R. Gosky, 244 and F. Brobeck, 215.

Carl Martell fired a 271 to lead the .22 caliber victory followed by Phillips, 265, Erwin St. George Jr., 260, Roy Dunn, 259 and Joe Martell, 258.

Mickey of Christy's TV also paced the .22 firing with a 279. Christy followed with a 272, Cosky, 247 and F. Brobeck, 216. The losers had just four shooters in the .22 competition.

No Favorite Seen Among 'A' Quintets

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Eight ambitious high school teams that struggled through long, successful seasons launched the 44th state scholastic basketball tournament at St. John Arena today.

Just a two-game winning streak was all that any of the octet needed to capture the much-coveted Class AA and Class A championships.

WSTV Will Televis

Second Game Tonight

WSTV Channel 9 at Steubenville will televise the second game of tonight's Class AA semi-finals beginning at 9:30 between Toledo Libbey and Lancaster. Channel 9 also will televise the championship game Saturday night beginning at 7:30.

There was no clear-cut favorite to cop the small school laurels but Dayton Chaminade appeared the team to beat for the AA honors.

If Coach Jim Turvene's Eagles make it, they will become the first parochial school in history to prevail in the big school competition. Five parochial schools have won in Class A action.

Unbeaten Rittman, 25-0, boasting a tall, good-shooting quintet, tangled with Dixie (24-1) in the opener at 1:30 p.m. Dixie's Greyhounds are the only entry in the field that owns a state title, that one coming in 1962 under the guidance of current Coach Columbus Hines.

Rossford (25-0) met South-eastern (25), which showed a 20-7 mark, in the windup of the Class A doubleheader.

The night matches sent Chaminade against Warren Harding at 7:30 p.m. and Lancaster (19-5) opposite Toledo Libbey in the 9:30 p.m. windup. The winners of both classes tangle Saturday for AA and A titles.

Chaminade, Warren and Libbey, ranked third, fourth and fifth, respectively. All have 24-1 records.

There isn't a ticket to be had to any of the sessions and High School Commissioner Paul Landis indicated that the all-time attendance mark of 55,553, set in 1960, was in jeopardy.

Ashland College Plans To Quit Conference

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ashland College has announced plans to drop out of the Mid-Ohio Conference at the end of the current school year in order to play more varied athletic schedules.

George Dongest, head of Ashland's Department of Health and Physical Education, announced the decision at a conference meeting here Thursday. He said Ashland teams will continue to play several Mid-Ohio schools which include Wilmington, Defiance, Bluffton and Cedarville Colleges.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson still holds Missouri Valley records for career points and rebounds. He recorded the three best season scoring averages in league history—36.0, 30.9 and 32.6—in that order.

Ohio Stars Named For North-South

By HAL PARIS
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A glittering host of high school basketball stars, including Class AA Player of the Year Dave Sorenson of Findlay, will play in the annual North-South All-Star game this summer.

The 6-foot-6 Sorenson, one of the most sought after scholastic cagers in the nation, was named to the North squad on the eve of the 44th state high school basketball tournament.

The Board of Directors of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Association announced Sorenson's selection and that of 15 others.

The field of 16, one from each of the state's 16 districts, includes four hotshots named earlier this week to The AP All-Ohio team. One other was a second-team choice and three made the third squad.

All-Ohio performers who will play for the North include Sorenson and Jim Penix of Rossford while Jody Finney of Springfield South and Jerry Francis of Columbus West will appear for the South.

Three of the coaches who have clubs in the state classic also won honors by being selected to head the two squads for the June 25th game at Marion. Jack Gysegem of Warren Harding and Cot Marquette of Rossford will direct the Yankees while Vince Chickerella of Columbus Linden and Columbus Hines of Dixie will guide the southerners.

Warren, Rossford and Dixie are competing for championships this weekend.

Brewer Threatens Bolt For Jacksonville Lead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—If Gay Brewer Jr. can keep his mind off an imminent operation on his 18-month-old daughter, he is in a good spot to continue the hottest streak in pro golf as the $82,000 Greater Jacksonville Open heads into the second round today.

One stroke off the six-under-par 66 pace set Thursday by Tommy Bolt, Brewer figured in a strong position because of the consistency of recent months when he won four tournaments.

But he admitted he is concerned about the little daughter, Kelly, who has been in a cast and is scheduled for an operation on her hip Monday. The trouble is a defect apparently existing since birth, he explained.

Brewer will head home to Dallas as soon as the 72-hole tourney ends Sunday.

He was able to concentrate well enough in his steady first round 34-33-67, with five birdies and only once coming close to a bogey.

For Bolt — whose expert shots over the past 20 years have been overshadowed by his reaction to a bad one by smashing a club against a tree — all was serene through his 34-32-66.

"I'm just beginning to wake up," he quipped. He said a doctor prescribed some pills for a swelling in his hands at the Citrus Open in Orlando last weekend and "they made me so weak I could hardly walk for two days."

The 47-year-old Bolt, owner of a par 3 course at Sarasota, Fla., no longer is a regular on the tour.

Neither is Ed Furgol, 49, former National Open champion who shot a 33-34-67 to tie Brewer for second place after 18 holes.

A crowd of 59 — all eager for the $13,500 first prize — were jammed into a bundle at par 72 or better.

Miller Barber, 34, of San Antonio, Tex., and three younger regulars on the tour opened with 68. Dave Hill, 28, of Evergreen, Colo.; Jack Rule Jr., 27, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Dave Stockton, 24, of San Bernardino, Calif., shared the spot two strokes off the lead.

Wind bothered the late starters — including Masters champ Jack Nicklaus at 70. U.S. Open champ Gary Player at 72 — without, he said a good putt all day — and PGA champ Dave Marr at 74.

Dan Sikes, the hometown favorite, had 71 along with defending champion Bert Weaver of Broadwater Beach, Miss.

Clay To Carry Most Weight In Next Bout

TORONTO (AP) — Cassius Clay probably will carry the most weight of his 5½-year pro-career Tuesday night when he risks his heavyweight crown against Canadian George Chuvalo.

As the undefeated Louisville Lip and the Canadian champion headed into their final boxing drills, Clay's trainer-manager, Angelo Dundee, said he expected his charge to weigh about 212 pounds.

That would be 1½ pounds more than the last-moving, fast-punching Clay has ever scaled for a fight. He weighed 210½ when he dethroned Sonny Liston 25 months ago on a seventh-round technical knockout at Miami Beach.

"The weight will be fine for him," Dundee said today. "Cassius is still a growing boy."

Clay supposedly came into town 10 days ago weighing 227. He has complained that the various distractions — getting an opponent and a site for the fight and appealing his draft reclassification — have made it difficult for him to get into shape.

The champ probably will have a few pounds on Chuvalo, the 28-year-old body banger who usually weighs between 206 and 210 for his fights. Manager Irv Ungerman said Chuvalo will weigh about 209 for his big moment.

The strong-jawed Toronto mauler weighed 206½ last Jan. 25 when he was beaten by Eduardo Corlett, the unranked Argentine, in London.

Chuvalo, loser of two of his last three fights, is ranked 10th by the World Boxing Association and ninth by Ring Magazine.

Both fighters expect to spar at least twice within the next three days and then coast until fight time.

Freddie Made Favorite In Steeplechase

AINTREE, England (AP) — British bookies today made the Scottish-trained Freddie the standout favorite to win Saturday's Grand National Steeplechase, regarded as the world's toughest race for thoroughbreds.

Freddie, a 9-year-old that came close to beating the American-owned Jay Trump in last year's grueling four-mile and 856-yard race over 30 towering obstacles, was quoted at 5-1, a sharp drop since the colt over a week ago.

Highland Wedding was the second choice at 11-2 and What A Myth third at 8-1. Forest Prince was next at 12-1 and Kapeno and Vulture at 14-1. Royal Ruse, the American hope owned by Ron Woodward of New York, was a 200-1 long shot.

The Grand National, run for more than 100 years over the Aintree Course, is in danger of oblivion. Mrs. Mirabel Topham, the course owner, wants to sell the Aintree's acres for a housing development. Lord Sefton, a previous owner, has brought a legal action to try to preserve both the course and race.

Wheeling Steel Sues U.S. Steel For $48 Million

WHEELING (AP) — A suit asking for $48 million in damages has been filed here by Wheeling Steel Corp. to "look after the interests of Wheeling stockholders and employees."

These were the words of Wheeling Steel President Robert M. Morris after the firm filed suit against the U. S. Steel Corp. for "interfering" with Wheeling's contract with Triangle Conduit & Cable Co., Inc., of New Brunswick, N. J.

Triangle, which has a plant in nearby Glen Dale, had contracted to buy steel pipe and coupling from Wheeling through 1973. The two firms have been dealing with each other for 30 years.

In the suit filed in Ohio County Circuit Court, Wheeling is also asking for $12 million from Triangle for wrongful breach of contract.

A Wheeling spokesman said U. S. Steel "with full knowledge of Wheeling's contract with Triangle induced the breach or co-operated in securing it."

The spokesman added, U. S. Steel then "commenced to supply Triangle with products which by contract Triangle was obligated to purchase from Wheeling."

Supreme Court's Major Actions Taken Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are major actions taken Thursday by the Supreme Court:

In a case from Virginia, the tribunal by 6-3 vote struck down state poll taxes as violative of the constitution's guarantee of equal protection of law.

Unanimously decided a defense of a federal criminal prosecution generally may be deducted from income tax as ordinary and necessary business expenses.

Ruled 6 to 3 that violation of contract suits under the Taft-Hartley labor law are subject to varying state statutes of limitation.

3 More Pennsylvania Men Killed In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has released the names of three more servicemen from Pennsylvania killed in action in Viet Nam.

The announcement Thursday said the dead are 1st Lt. Thomas A. Bird, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Bird (277 Colonial Drive) Pittsburgh; Lance Cpl. Robert G. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil G. Brown (Box 282 R.D. 4) Finleyville; and Lance Cpl. Julius J. Valint Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius J. Valint Sr. (71 Lemon St.), Uniontown. All were Marines.

Police Brave Cold, Missing Girl Okay

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Through a freezing night, Pittsburgh police had maintained their headquarters in Spring Hill Elementary School as they scoured the neighborhood for a missing 6-year-old girl.

Early this morning they shifted their headquarters to a fire station in the same district.

Shortly after the headquarters had been moved, police received a phone call. The child, Grace Hoffmaster, had spent the night at a friend's home, a few houses from the fire station.

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A great, great granddaughter of Emperor Napoleon Bonaparte III of France was married Thursday in a civil ceremony attended by royalty.

Princess Tatiana Radziwill, 27, was wed to Dr. Jean Henri Fruchaud, 29, of France, in the French Embassy in Athens.

The bride is not related to Mrs. John F. Kennedy's brother-in-law, Prince Stanislaw Radziwill.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Judy Lynn Funsch, who has had pneumonia 18 times in her five years of life, remains in fair condition but with an improved appetite, doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center reported Thursday.

The 28-pound blonde child from Flint, Mich., underwent intricate heart surgery two weeks ago today, and developed pneumonia for the 18th time.

But without the operation—to remove an obstruction from a heart vein—she would have died within a few years, doctors say.

TECHNY, Ill. (AP) — Being 101 years old isn't as much fun as being 100, says Mrs. Emilie Ensinger, 101 today.

She's celebrating her birthday with a party in St. Anne's Home for the Aged in Techny, where she's been a resident for the last 12 years.

"That 100-year birthday party was fun, but 101—well, it's just another birthday," she remarked. "Even at my age, one doesn't care to grow older."

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "Buddy, give me my money back," Kathy Hartup, 20, told the man she was taking a portable radio from her car in the Atlanta area.

Mrs. Hartup yelled at the thief when she first spotted him, and he placed the radio on top of the car and walked away.

Quickly checking the car, she found $5 missing from her purse. She grabbed a pistol from a suitcase and overtook the man. Displaying the pistol, she demanded her money. "He gave me a five-dollar bill and walked away," she said Thursday, "but I kept following him."

She trailed him Wednesday for two miles in high-heeled shoes, keeping 20 to 30 feet behind him, until she spotted policemen who arrested the man and charged him with larceny. Mrs. Hartup, a secretary from Forest Park, Ga., got a foot blister for her determined effort.

Zambia's climate is considered subtropical rather than tropical. Cyclones and other catastrophic storms do not occur.

Junior Editors Quiz on Asteroids

QUESTION: Where are the asteroids and how were they formed?

ANSWER: In the upper left, the white lines are orbits of planets circling around the sun. Notice that the orbits of Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars are relatively close, but that is a wide gap between those of Mars and Jupiter. The earlier astronomers used to wonder why there was no planet in this area. Then, in 1810, a dot of light was found there and thought to be a planet. It was called Ceres. Further study showed it was too small to be a planet — only about 500 miles in diameter. Other small bodies were discovered in the area and called planetoids or asteroids because they looked like planets or stars. By now, over 1,570 have been identified. They are of many sizes (our picture shows how a small one might compare in size to a city). They are composed of rock or metal and are probably of rough irregular shapes, as they do not have enough gravity to be rounded into spheres. Some astronomers think the asteroids were created when another planet, orbiting in the area where they are now, got too close to Jupiter and was pulled to pieces (lower left). Other experts think they are left-over particles of the material out of which the solar system was once formed.

FOR YOU TO DO: Paste this article and picture in your science scrap book. It has been calculated that an asteroid named Icarus will approach Earth closely enough to be seen by the naked eyes. This will be in 1968. Watch for newspaper reports.

Alice Jean Thomaston of Clinton, Tenn., wins this week's grand prize of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, March 25, the 84th day of 1966. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, George Washington received the Congressional Medal Award, the highest honor that could be bestowed on a soldier, for his capture of Boston. The Medal of Honor, now the highest award, was originated in 1862.

On this date: In 1825, the University of Virginia was opened.

ing in New York claimed 147 lives.

In 1945, seven Allied armies were advancing east of the Rhine as German resistance grew more disorganized.

Ten years ago—The United States asked the U.N. Security Council to send a fact-finding mission to the Middle East in the Palestine dispute.

Five years ago—The instrumented satellite Explorer 10 was launched into orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

One year ago — Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker, was shot to death on a highway near Selma, Ala.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruce —

Dear Heloise: Here is a penny-saver other mothers might like to know about:

I buy canned soup (chicken noodle, turkey noodle, vegetable beef, etc.), and use my blender to turn it into baby food for my 16-month-old son. I add just a little water after the soup is partly blended.

It adds variety to his meals and he loves it.

DEANNA CARLSON.

DEAR HELOISE: While I was goofing off (Mother says that's what I do most of the time!) the other day, I discovered a new bank and it doesn't cost anything!

I had finished drinking soda out of a flip-top can, and was counting some change I had in a little box on my desk; so just for fun I started putting the change in the opening on top of the can.

Mother came in while I was doing this, and she thought it was a pretty good idea but she did say that I should have rinsed out the can and let it dry first!

If you need some of the money, it's easy to shake it out, or you can let the can get almost full and open it with a can opener.

I'm going to cover the sides of one (a clean one!) with some adhesive-backed paper to go with the color of my desk.

BILL JR.

Well, bless you, Billy Boy!

An empty beverage can does make a wonderful bank—and it won't break if you drop it. Besides, you can take the money a regular bank would cost and clank it into this free bank to get your savings started.

If you didn't happen to have any scraps of adhesive-backed paper to cover the sides, maybe you could find some left-over wallpaper or paint to decorate it.

If this is an example of your goof-off ideas, send us some more of them!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: An old tennis racket makes an ideal tie rack for those new clip-on ties. Just fasten the clips through the strings!

The racket may be painted to match the decor of the bedroom or clothes closet.

MRS. G. P. GAGNET.

DEAR HELOISE: To remove grease spots from leather shoes, I made a paste of cornstarch and water. Apply a thick coat to the spot. Let this dry. Then, brush off the dry powder.

You may have to use more than one application of this paste to remove the spot.

ALMA.

DEAR HELOISE: This is an idea for those who still use window shades, most of which are washable. When old and ready to be thrown out, I used mine to line the bottom of the cupboard shelves where I keep my pots and pans and it is wonderful.

When soiled, I just wipe off with a damp cloth or sponge.

They save time (and money) changing shelf paper, and are much stronger.

Transatlantic Cable Breaks; 3 Carry Load

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the four transatlantic cables broke Thursday night, shifting the load onto the other three, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reported. Press Wireless communications were hampered.

An AT&T spokesman said transatlantic calls went through normally but a short wait during peak periods of overseas calls was possible today.

The broken cable was one used by Press Wireless, among others. Press Wireless leases channels on its section of the cable to major newspapers and news-gathering agencies, including The Associated Press and United Press International. Press Wireless reported it was unable to secure an alternate cable line to London, and was using radio.

Radio communication has been reported troublesome the past few days due to atmospheric conditions.

The Associated Press has maintained communications between New York and London through an alternate cable line, called Telex, but it use has been restricted to urgent dispatches.

Cause of the break and its deep sea location have not been determined, the AT&T spokesman said.

He said it might be three or four days before the break could be located and repaired.

Walk To Slim Down, Shape Up

The winter's gone. . . the one mile of walking, depending on your weight and walking rate. By walking a mile to a mile and a quarter a day, you can fend off as much as 10 pounds which might otherwise pile on in a single year.

By the same token, walking that distance regularly could reduce your weight 10 pounds in a single year. . . provided you do not add calories to compensate for the mile walked. Here are the figures: One pound of body weight is equal to 3,500 calories. One hundred calories burned a day for 365 days adds up to 36,500 calories. That's about 10 pounds.

The most rewarding part of regular walking is the fine feeling that comes with stimulated circulation. You can come alive with spring.

More than 25,000 American soldiers of World War 2, including Gen. George S. Patton, are buried in Hamm, near Luxembourg.

So, how many blocks to a city mile, is our reader's inquiry. This varies, but if the town is laid out in a regular pattern, it usually figures about 12 blocks to the mile.

For regular exercise you simply cannot beat walking. Why is the two - mile walk stipulated? It's not that it is twice as beneficial as one mile, but it takes about 20 minutes of straight-away walking to get the real benefits.

So, with circulation up and doing, the second mile is all to the good, provided you are in condition. Walking is excellent toning exercise. However, the chief benefits from regular walking is that it keeps the blood vessels young and elastic.

Dr. Harry J. Johnson, eminent medical authority with the Life Extension Institute, says: "The best way to stay middle - aged forever and never get old is to keep active physically."

Walking for one hour a day, straight away, or 20 minutes at a time is his recommendation as one way to extend the prime of life.

THERE IS no more healthful way to control your weight than to walk. Regular, physical activity that uses the large muscles of the body is the best way to step up calorie burning. You burn from 85 to 100 calories in
